Dave is a highly entertaining and educational speaker who mixes humor with useful insights and tips for coming out ahead in crowded situations on the race course.

His presentation includes explanations of the tactics on the white board, spectacular helicopter video shots of the tactics in action, and ample time for Question & Answer.

Dave is a championship sailor, having been a two-time All American sailor and collegiate national champion at Yale, two-time Congressional Cup winner, and three-time national match racing champion. He is also one of the country's top coaches, currently coaching the US Sailing Team AlphaGraphics womens match racing team as they prepare for the 2012 Olympic Games.

Dave is also a rules expert, currently chairing the US SAILING Appeals Committee, and is the author of three books on the sport, which will be available for purchase and signing at the presentation.
